Dear Editor:

Your August "Q-Link Guide to Downloading Software" was great, but I'm still having a problem. When I download a long program, sometimes I encounter errors or get disconnected before the download is complete! What's the problem?

Hexia
Washington, D.C.

Sorry about the inconvenience, Hex. Our August Guide to Downloading should have noted that some people experience trouble downloading lengthy programs while connected to Q-Link through Tymnet. There is a patch program that will correct the problem in most cases. It's called updateq, and can be found as the Q-Link Download Patch, or as updateq, in the CIN Software Libraries in the Q-Link Utilities area.

Complete instructions for loading and running updateq can be found in the description attached to the program file. You can view those instructions when downloading the patch by pressing the F7 button and choosing Post or Read Comments About This File. After following those directions and loading updateq, Q-Link will appear to function as it did before, but you should experience a decrease in downloading problems.

Dear Editor:

I would like to see more articles geared toward beginning Commodore telecommunicators like myself. Although I use IBMs at work, the world of Commodore is still relatively new to me, and this is my first experience with a network like Q-Link.

Hdbngr
Naperville, IL

Well, Hdbngr, we do try to provide information in the Update that will appeal to both beginners and Q-Linkers who are more familiar with the system — for instance, in this issue, we talk about the CIN Music Room Support Group and what they have to offer experts and novices alike. In the new RUN Magazine area online (see page 45), you can access RUN articles about Commodore computing that address many of your general questions. And of course, you can get just about any question concerning Commodore and Q-Link answered in the online General/Beginners Support Group in CIN's Computing Support Groups area.

Keep your eyes open for more Q-Link Update articles with appeal to the newest members of our online community!

To send a Letter to the Editor, choose the Post A Letter to the Editor option in the Update area of the Customer Service Center's Members' Online Guide.

CORRECTION

The Q-Link Guide to Downloading Software in the August Update contained an error in the first section, "Format a Disk." The correct command for formatting a disk is to type:

OPEN15,8,15,"N0:diskname,id":CLOSE15

The Learning Center Helps You Jump Start the New (School) Year

The calendar says the New Year starts in January, but September's the month when kids go off to a new year of challenges at school. Many adults, responding to seasonal rhythms set in their youth, find their own thoughts turning to new educational experiences when the weather cools.

No matter what your age, Q-Link® wants to put you in the back-to-school spirit this fall! A wide variety of educational opportunities await you online that will do just that. You can attend Q-Link's online college, get help with homework, prepare for SATs or GREs, or join the fun at the Academic Bowl Tournament sponsored by Grolier Electronic Publishing, publishers of the Academic American Encyclopedia™!

Thirty Courses Available – at Quantum Community College

The Quantum Community College (QCC), located in the Learning Center, brings the classroom right into your living room! Students of all ages can attend classes online and broaden the scope of their knowledge by enrolling in courses this fall.

"QCC courses provide a convenient alternative for students who have full-time jobs and full-time families," says Margaret Morabito, QCC director. Courses are taught in real-time classrooms by educators from across the country. Continue your education or just study a subject that's always intrigued you.

Thirty courses are being offered at QCC this fall, including seven new ones. New courses this term include "Introduction to Business Law," and "Marriage Can Be Great," which focuses on honest communication between spouses and is "for anyone who's married or thinking about it. This course could be a real eye-opener," says Morabito. "You and Your Heart," another new course about the risks of heart disease and how to avoid them, is taught by a physician who has undergone a heart transplant himself.

Each course meets regularly online. You can download homework assignments and course materials to use at your convenience. Or, take a study break and go to the QCC Student Union in the Learning Center to socialize and exchange ideas with your fellow students.

You'll find course descriptions, including last-minute additions or changes to the schedule, and more specifics concerning the college, in the QCC Information Center in QCC.

There is a $15 fee for each course. Registration opens September 2 and closes September 22. Fall quarter classes begin September 24. Courses run for eight weeks each semester.

To sign up, go to the Registration area of QCC in the Learning Center. Class sizes are limited, so make sure you register early!

Individualized Homework Help is Yours

For kids and teenagers, the long summer break each year can mean rusty study skills come autumn. For those who could use some help or have specific questions, QTutors hold informal, nightly study sessions in a variety of subject areas in Tutoring Center classrooms in the Learning Center.

The sessions are staffed by education professionals who help students on a drop-in basis with computer science, English, foreign languages, humanities, math, and science. Check the Monthly Class Schedule in the Information Center or your Q-Link Update™ calendar for dates, times and classroom locations.

If you or your child want one-on-one tutoring help, you can get it! Select the Tutoring Center department in which you need help, choose the Message Boards option, then select Student Sign-Up. Then just type your request for personal tutoring assistance.

The tutoring departments also run weekly and monthly contests (see box, p. 7), where students can win Plus hours by participating in a spelling bee or message board trivia quiz. Look for more information in the Contest areas of each Tutoring Center department!

It's hard to get back into the scholastic swing. QCC and the Tutoring Center can help fine-tune rusty study skills.

Women Today Contest $500 Scholarship To Be Awarded Oct. 1

Don't forget to join Lee Chiaramonte of the Women Today area in the Learning Center on Saturday, October 1 at 7 p.m. when she announces the winner of the Independence Essay Contest in the People Connection Auditorium and awards a $500 educational scholarship!

The July Women Today contest posed this question: If the Declaration of Independence were signed today by 13 females, who would they be? Entrants were asked to submit a list of 13 women and their reasons for selecting them.

The contest is open until September 25. You can enter by going to the Women Today Essay Contest area in the Learning Center's Women Today area.

Chiaramonte will analyze the choices and reasons submitted by contestants and select a winner. Don't miss out when the results are announced and Lee awards the scholarship, to be used toward continuing studies.

The resources available in the Learning Center can be the jump start you need to start the school year right!

Review and Remember What You Learned Last September

Get more help with your homework, or tackle a subject not on your schedule this term, by downloading tutorial programs from the Parent-Teacher Information Exchange (PTIX) Educational Program Library in the Learning Center.

You'll find hundreds of public domain and shareware educational programs for the C64, classified by subject and grade level. Need to bone up on vocabulary skills for SATs? Look for the "Vocab" tutorial series in the Language Arts area to help prepare you for the language sections of that test.

For junior high and high schoolers who need help with math, the "Brewer Math" tutorial and worksheet series provides supplemental help with fractions, square roots, and percentages.

For the younger kids, there are math, language, and thinking programs like "Munchmath," "Madlib," and "Guess My Number," which combine graphics and sound to make the lessons exciting and fun.

Teachers will find valuable tools to download too. There are programs for lesson plans and gradebook outlines, and testing programs that teachers can customize to fit their individual needs.

The online Program Index in PTIX gives you a complete listing of all the programs available for downloading. You can also get Commodore educational learning aids in the Educational Software area of the Learning Center.

Sharpen Your Trivia Skills With Grolier's Whiz Quiz Puzzlers

Test your knowledge in a variety of categories or bone up for the Academic Bowl Tournament later this month by taking the weekly Whiz Quiz, brought to you by Grolier Electronic Publishing and available on the main menu of the Learning Center.

Each week Grolier's, the publisher of the Academic American Encyclopedia in the Learning Center, prepares a 10-question Whiz Quiz based on information from the Academic American.

Questions fall into 12 different categories: Art, the Bible, Current Events, History, Literature, Movies, Music, Mythology, Science, Sports, Where in the World (geography), and Who Said That (quotations).

See how many Whiz Quiz questions you can answer each week. If you're stumped, you can check out the Academic American Encyclopedia and satisfy your need to know the answers!

Find Facts Online

No home should be without an encyclopedia, but a set of books from 1968 isn't going to help Johnny much with his homework. There's no need to spend hundreds of dollars on a new set when your Q-Link basic service gives you unlimited access to an encyclopedia as part of your monthly membership!

The Grolier Academic American Encyclopedia is the equivalent of a 20-volume printed reference, but it's updated with new information regularly! You can search for over 30,000 different articles by typing a key subject word and letting the Academic American do the rest! Just choose the Academic American Encyclopedia option from the Learning Center's main menu. Stay tuned to the Learning Center for details on Academic Bowl games, sponsored by Grolier's!

The Learning Center has the resources to advance your child's educational growth and your own! Take advantage of these learning opportunities this month or anytime to get back in the academic swing!

Match Wits, Win Prizes At Grolier's Academic Bowl

by EileenC

Picture This: You're center stage in the Auditorium. Mom and Dad wave from the balcony as they proudly cheer you on. The spotlight and cameras zoom in for a close-up. The audience breaks into wild applause as you give the winning answer in the September Academic Bowl championship!

This scenario could come true for you and your teammates as Q-Link hosts an exclusive three-part Academic Bowl tournament, sponsored by Grolier's Academic American Encyclopedia!

Here's how the tourney works:

Q-Link will host three Academic Bowl game shows this month, at 7 p.m. on September 11, 18, and 25 in the Auditorium. During each of the shows, teams will earn points for answering questions that are supplied by Grolier's editors and the QTutors of the Learning Center's Tutoring Center.

The winning teams from the first two shows will then battle for top honors during the final Academic Bowl championship on September 25! The team that wins the final Bowl will be showered with terrific prizes, including Plus hours, Q-Link T-shirts, and educational software from Grolier's! Door prizes will also be awarded to members of the audience throughout each of the shows.

Interested in joining the competition and showing off your smarts? Get your friends together and form an Academic Bowl team now! Then, send E-Mail to Q-Link's Master of Ceremonies, "RJScott," with the names of your teammates. The names of selected teams will be posted by September 8 in P.C. Link, located in Just For Fun's QSociety.

Remember — you could be a member of the winning team!

Tutoring Center Contests Make Learning Fun — and Plus Hours Free!

Each week, the QTutors in the Tutoring Center in the Learning Center hold contests that supplement the online classes. You can win free Plus time in each contest! Check the Tutoring Center Departments for details about these and other contests.

English Department

September means the start of a new essay contest. The first place winner will receive four Plus hours; second place, three Plus hours; and third place, two Plus hours. Q-Link members help in the judging by voting for their favorite entries. There's also a daily literature question posed on the Literature Contest message board — be the first to answer correctly five different questions, and you'll receive one Plus hour! And Mondays at 8 p.m. in Classroom D, QTutor PJ holds an old-fashioned spelling bee — the person who spells the most words right by the end of the session gets a Plus hour F-R-E-E.

Math Department

Each week, a different math question goes up on the Math Jeopardy message board. Questions have varying point values, and the student with the most points at the end of the month wins Plus time. In the Math Fill-In Contest, questions are posted on the Math Contest board with part of the message omitted. The missing part is available in a specified math tutoring session each week — be the first to fill the question in correctly and win!

Foreign Language Department

Each week, QTutor pt poses five questions during the Spanish tutoring sessions. Students can E-Mail their answers to the instructor, and at the end of the month the ones with all the questions answered correctly win tiempo gratis (free time)!

Science and Health Department

"Science Challenge" is a four-week contest to test your science smarts! Each week, the science tutors will present a Junior and Senior challenge for you to meet. Entries should be E-Mailed within seven days to the tutor who presents each challenge; points will be awarded and the entrants who accumulate the most points by the end of the contest will get two, one, or half-hours of Plus time.

Computer Science Department

Daily Computer Science questions are posted on the Computer Science Contest message board. The first person with a correct response earns a "chip;" earn four chips and you've got a free Plus hour!

Join the contest fun in each department of the Learning Center's Tutoring Center and earn free Plus Time. Check each department's contest area for details!

Commodore Software Showcase

Meet Berkeley Softworks' CEO At GEOS 2.0 Forum

Learn the details about this new product from the CEO himself!

Berkeley Softworks Chief Executive Officer, Brian Dougherty, will answer your questions about the company's new GEOS 2.0 at a GEOS Forum beginning at 10 p.m. on Thursday, September 29 in the People Connection Auditorium.

Dougherty is the founder and chairman of BSW and one of the developers of GEOS, the graphic environment operating system for Commodore 64s and 128s. The GEOS package provides users with a simple-to-use graphic interface that utilizes icons and pulldown menus — just click your mouse or joystick for disk organization, word-processing, spell-checking, graphics drawing, and a host of other functions.

"We designed GEOS to be a new operating system that would liberate Commodore owners from a world of fragmented productivity applications, each with its own interface," says Dougherty, "We wanted to give Commodore owners the same ease of use Macintosh owners enjoyed."

GEOS was first introduced in 1986, and the GEOS 2.0 release is the result of two years of refinement. You can find all the GEOS support you need in the Commodore Software Showcase GEOS Arena.

Enhanced GEOS At Last!

"GEOS 2.0 is the most impressive single software package we have ever produced. We jokingly refer to it around here as the second coming of GEOS," says Dougherty. "There are a number of enhancements to the deskTop environment that dramatically improve on the old package."

The deskTop 2.0 now supports two disk drives and a RAM Expansion Unit at the same time. It will also allow you to retrieve the most recently deleted file from the on-screen wastebasket.

The deskTop is not the only part of the GEOS package that has been improved. GEOS now contains more applications than the earlier 1.3 version.

Two programs that were previously sold as separate packages — geoSpell for context-sensitive spell-checking, and geoWrite Workshop, a package of four advanced word-processing utilities — are now included on the GEOS 2.0 disk.

The package's wordprocessing utility, geoWrite 2.1, includes left, right, center, and full justification, single, 1-1/2 and double-spacing options, full-page preview and 10 fonts of multiple point sizes. It also imports graphics from geoPaint, data from geoFile, and calculations from geoCalc.

The geoPaint utility is a full-featured graphics workshop that allows you to create charts and diagrams for full page images. Select from 16 colors, 14 graphic tools, 32 brush shapes and 32 painting patterns. In addition the new Paint Drivers program will allow you to spruce up your word processing documents by creating borders, headlines, logos, and other designs.

Other utilities available on GEOS 2.0 include geoMerge, a mail merge utility, Text Grabber, for converting any word processor's text into geoWrite; and seven desk accessories (which include a pop-up chiming alarm clock, a calculator, and a notepad). The geoLaser application allows near-typeset quality output with an Apple LaserWriter, and the disk Turbo utility speeds disk access five to seven times faster than normal.

Win GEOS Software at the Forum

Dougherty will discuss GEOS and answer your questions about other Berkeley Softworks programs at the GEOS Forum. Don't miss this opportunity to talk to the developer of GEOS! You could win door prizes of the new GEOS 2.0 program or any other GEOS package of your choice.

See GEOS for yourself in the Preview area of the Software Buyer's Guide in the Commodore Software Showcase. You can order GEOS Version 2.0 online and get a 20% discount off the retail price — just go to the Order GEOS Products area in the Showcase's GEOS Arena.

Annex Publishers Added to Support Center Index

Look up Annex software publishers in the Software Index of the Commodore Software Showcase. Their products are included in the categories with the other publishers featured in the Support Center.

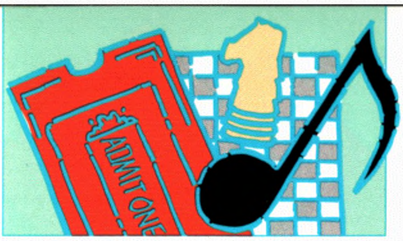
While you're visiting the Support Center Annex, see what the other publishers are planning, too! Download software demos in the Software Buyer's Guide to "test drive" new products before you buy. Post your product problems on the Customer Service boards to get timely advice from the publisher's representatives. And visit the Game Hints board in the publisher's area of your choice to see what new strategies might help you play games better than ever!

New Product News

The New Product Information area of the Commodore Software Showcase's Software Buyer's Guide has a new look that makes it easier to find news and information on the latest software from all the Support Center publishers.

Product information is now grouped in areas based on the specific type of machine that runs the software. There are separate areas for C64®, C128™, Amiga™, PC-10™/MS-DOS®, and Video and Arcade Systems.

There's also a General Industry News area full of press releases and news bulletins that are updated weekly — find out about software company mergers, trade shows, and major events.



Enter a New Realm in the Phantasy Guild

The Phantasy Guild^{SM}, one of Just For Fun's most active and popular clubs, has been reorganized to make it the ultimate in online adventure gaming! The new design will also get you in the role-playing spirit, with appropriate menu names that conjure images of adventure.

Your first stop in the new Phantasy Guild is The Town Square. As the name implies, this is a general introductory area where you can get information about the Guild and find out how to join.

Your next stop is to The Wise One, the Guild's help and gaming guideline center. Here you'll find instructions for live and message board gaming, free form events, and information ranging from "sanctioned" characters to becoming a Guild Game Master.

The City Council is the Phantasy Guild's general business center. There's a schedule of weekly and monthly events, a list of sanctioned Game Masters, and the "Encyclopaedia of the Multi-verse," which describes the Guild's various role-playing universes.

Welcome to the Main Stages

Finally, you've arrived at the heart of the Guild — the rooms and message boards where your adventures will take place.

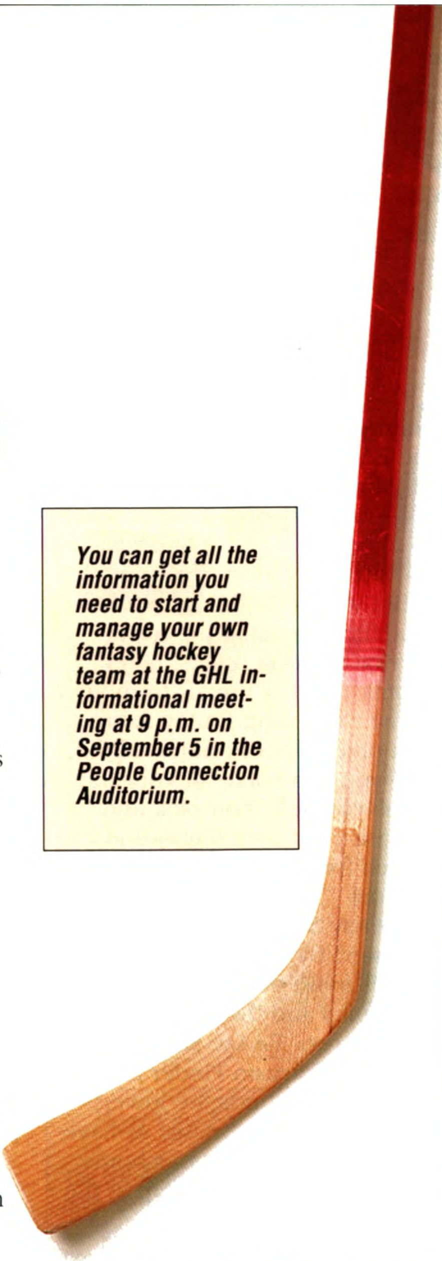
Escape to a world of fantasy in Myth, Might & Magic! The Myth, Might & Magic area is the fantasy role-playing center. In addition to the playing areas inside, there's also The Treasure Chest, a complete data library with entire character systems for all the Guild's fantasy adventures.

Other selections from the main menu are devoted to game space for other types of risky pursuits. You can travel to other worlds and battle ferocious creatures in the sci-fi Endless Voyages area, and the Secret Missions area is where superheros and spies meet to compete. Pit your strategy and war gaming skills against seemingly invincible odds in the Realm of Conquest. Like the Myth, Might & Magic area, all these realms include gaming message boards and rooms, general information, and data libraries.

Finally, there's the Village Courier, known in less adventurous areas of Q-Link as the Post Office. Even wizards and damsels need a place to unravel and read their scrolls!

If you're not a member of the Phantasy Guild yet, now's a good time to wander into the new Guild digs and sign up. You can enter the Guild by choosing the Phantasy Guild from the Entertainment area of Just For Fun.

If you're not a member of the Phantasy Guild yet, now's a good time to wander into the new Guild digs and find out how to sign up!



'88-'89 Grandstand Hockey League Face-Off Set for September 5th

It's not too late to join in the fall skating action of The Grandstand Hockey League (GHL), located in The Grandstand's Simulations and Fantasy Leagues area in Just For Fun's Sports Center. This season's grueling hockey season kicks off at the GHL Face-Off Meeting on Monday, September 5 at 9 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium.

The Grandstand Hockey League allows you to become owner and general manager of your very own team. In the course of the league simulation, you'll draft, trade, and pick players from the National Hockey League based on a team budget you've been given to spend for your fantasy team.

Then your players' statistics will be tallied from their actual NHL performance and applied to your line-up. If a player scores in real life, the same player on your team is credited with the goal!

Using this method each week, team records are established and rivalries intensify as the season continues. The fantasy team that finishes the season as victor wins its manager free Plus hours and the prestigious "Lord Ref's Cup"!

You can get all the information you need to start and manage your own fantasy hockey team at the GHL informational meeting at 9 p.m. on September 5 in the People Connection Auditorium.

How to Start Your Own Team

You can get all the information you need to start and manage your own fantasy hockey team at the GHL Face-Off Meeting at 9 p.m. on September 5. To be involved in the GHL draft scheduled for early October, you first need to register with the league.

Complete registration guidelines will be discussed at the meeting, or you can find them online in The Grandstand Hockey League Overview in the GHL area of The Grandstand's Simulations and Fantasy Leagues.

Strap on your skates and pick a winning team!

Visit The Grandstand's Summer Olympics Information Center for a daily update during the XXII Summer Olympiad in Seoul, South Korea. You'll find a schedule of each day's athletic events. Sample the opinions of "The Ref," his staff, and other Olympic enthusiasts on the Olympic Center's message board.

The Grandstand evening sports discussions are sure to focus on the Olympics this month — check out the Grandstand Bleachers at 9 p.m. nightly! When it comes to filling you in on Olympic excitement, Grandstand and the Sports Center win a gold medal!

Dr. Fix Now Treating Cars

That's right, the car repair doctor is in! Dr. Fix, your online home repair specialist, now welcomes questions about car trouble as well! Just post your problem on the car care message board in the Ask Dr. Fix area, located in Just For Fun's Family Center. You'll get answers to your car repair questions within a day or two!

Learn How to Make Your Own Travel Plans at the EAAsy Sabre Travel Forum

Monday, September 26, 9 p.m.

You can make all your business and vacation travel plans easily and conveniently by using the EAAsy Sabre® Travel Service in The Mall. If you haven't used the system before, come find out more about it at the EAAsy Sabre Travel Forum on Monday, September 26 at 9 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium.

Barbara Norton of EAAsy Sabre will be online to offer guidance on using the travel service to book flights, hotel rooms, and car rentals from your home. "By using EAAsy Sabre, you save a lot of phone calling, and you can make all your travel plans yourself. You pick and choose your own flights and can search for the lowest fares," says Norton.

EAAsy Sabre, developed and operated by American Airlines, carries more than 650 flight schedules and their corresponding airfares. EAAsy Sabre's exclusive Bargain Finder feature automatically finds the lowest airfare. You can arrange to have your tickets sent to your home or office, or pick them up at the airport.

Travel Bargains on Hotels, Car Rentals

EAAsy Sabre provides more than just airline ticket reservations. You can also reserve rooms at more than 16,000 hotels or shop for the best car rental deal of the 39 rental companies represented on EAAsy Sabre. You can review, check, and even change your itinerary yourself if your plans change.

You can also access weather information, including advanced forecasts for your destination. Or check out how many mileage points you have accumulated in American Airlines' Advantage Mileage Program.

EAAsy Sabre also offers online tips to help you select a flight, and there's an EAAsy Sabre area that tells you exactly how to register for reservations.

If you haven't been using EAAsy Sabre to make your travel plans, start saving time and money now! For more information, visit the EAAsy Sabre Travel Service in The Mall.

Your Q-Pons Are Worth More Than Ever When You Shop At the Q-Link Store

A flood of new merchandise has hit the shelves of the Q-Link Store in the Mall. That means you can exchange your Q-Pons more often for a selection of goods designed especially for Q-Link!

Q-Pons are similar to "green stamps," and all Q-Link members are eligible to earn them for participating in a variety of online and offline activities. You can turn in your accumulated Q-Pons for valuable gifts!

New Q-Link Items

You'll find many new items in the Q-Link Store, many customized with the Q-Link logo. As you download programs to build your software library, store your disks in your new Q-Link disk case. The disk-shaped Q-Link notepad is perfect for taking notes while you're online. And enjoy a cup of your favorite brew, sipping from your very own Q-Link coffee mug!

Other new items include pocket calculators, clocks, sports bags, and bumper stickers. If you can't wait to save up enough Q-Pons, you can order any of these items for a modest price in the Q-Link Store. Says Q-Link Product Manager Larry Davis, "The new merchandise we're offering is part of our larger effort to let Q-Link members know just how much we value them. We want members to feel good about belonging to the Q-Link community."

Get information on how to earn Q-Pons in the Q-Pons section of the Customer Service Center's Members' Online Guide. A list of Q-Pon gifts and prices is available in the Q-Link Store in The Mall. One of our new bargains might just catch your eye!

Q-Link And You!

During the first two weeks of July, we asked Q-Link members to post online essays telling us what Q-Link means to them and how Q-Link has positively affected their lives.

The response was overwhelming! From the many essays we received, we've chosen the ones below to exemplify the wide variety of experiences people like you have on Q-Link.

The writers of the letters chosen for publication will all receive five free Plus hours for submitting their entries. To them, and everyone else who sent a response, thank you for telling us about Q-Link and You!

Learn from the Comfort of Your Own Home

Q-Link is the best system that your Commodore could ever have! You get to meet lots (and do I mean LOTS :D) of people. You learn new things about the Commodore from CIN.

What I like about Q best is P.C. and QCC (Quantum Community College). In People Connection you meet many people, many of whom would readily be your friend, and it has lots of get togethers. The best part is the Auditorium, with the variety of events.

QCC is the most interesting part of Q. It has classes of almost every variety. The QTutors are great and help you alot. In fact, I learn a lot more and understand more easily by QTutor than by classroom teacher!

You can relax in the privacy of your own home, without worrying about the time or the weather!

Online Information About GEOS

I am a creative production designer. I often use GEOS in my business correspondence. I have been able to get online information regarding the GEOS system quickly and easily from GEOS Steve. I can download important updates to the system and creative new additions from the fine contributions made by other Q-Linkers.

Q-Link has put me in direct contact with my major software resource. I know my C64 is not only a worthwhile system, it will remain a strong system as long as Q-Link provides the hackers and users this free-spirited atmosphere, where there is a creative exchange of ideas and useful software development.

The heart of the C64 is in the hands of the link the "Q" provides!

Software, Clubs, and New Friends

How has Q-Link changed my life? I had retired from 32 years of teaching – disabled, health deteriorating, gradually cut off from my friends, and unable to go visit the library.

But I bought a C64 just after I retired five years ago. I began to teach myself to use my computer — there has never, in all my years of teaching, been a more backward, slow-learning student than I was.

Finally, it began to work and I started to publish a family newsletter that I do in genealogy. Then a couple of months ago, I bought my Q-Link disk — boy, how drastically life perked up! When I'm not teaching my three-year-old grandson to use my "compooter" or playing Solitaire or Blackjack II (downloaded, of course), I go online nearly every night to the Your Family Tree Club (in Just For Fun's Family Center), where I have downloaded some archives and have met new friends.

There is also the Food and Wine Club (in Just For Fun's Entertainment Center), where there are some great recipes. Then I went to a Fiction and Fantasy Club meeting — more nice people! I sent some E-Mail and got some back! Luv ya, Q-Link, and I've only just started! Thank you!

No More Anxious Nights

Q-Link has been a very good friend to me ever since my husband started a new job in which he works nights. I was a little nervous about being home alone, so I bought the Q-Link disk and brought by computer into my living room. Now I am constantly on!

I download quite a few programs of all types to keep me company, and the trivia games in P.C. are so much fun — I look forward to them.

I don't know what I would do without it. It is like a friend to me, and I don't feel alone when I can talk to people, shop, play games, and download programs for word processing, music, and games. I have also learned many things about my computer — no book could ever tell me as much as I have learned on Q.

My Q-Link disk was damaged, and your Customer Service Department was wonderful to me. They explained that I could get a new disk and not lose my user names or Plus time, and they sent it to me free! What a great crew you have!

I will never quit using Q-Link. It has opened up a new world to me that I never knew existed. I just wish I knew it was around years ago! Thank you, Q, for excellent services, affordable prices, and a wonderfully efficient, courteous staff!

Meeting Fellow Hobbyists

I live in a small town, and being one of its few comic book collectors, I had no one to talk to about comics. My friends, great as they are, couldn't understand why I was so big on comics.

Then I got Q-Link. I met other comic collectors, some with the same interests as mine, some without. It has made me more open and free to talk to people. Thanks Q-Link!

Better than Transcendental Meditation

Q-Link has been a godsend to me. I am a workaholic and often come home late after a 12-hour day. The Q keeps me from going over the deep end! No matter how tired I am, I can quickly get linked to the Q and can talk instantly to friends I've made who live all over the U.S.

The hour or two I spend on the Q each night really bolsters by spirits and does more for decreasing the stress in my life than all the transcendental meditation in the world. With Q I never feel alone, because I can always find someone eager to chat at all hours of the night.

I have always said there has to be a better way to meet people than the current singles' bar; believe me, I have found the alternative. I have even met some folks in person after meeting them on the Q. If you think I am hooked on Q, I am. But unlike other addictions, Q won't give you cancer or cause premature death. Hooray for Q-Link!

Programming Info, Software Picks

When I had to leave my job because of a disability at age 54, I had a brand new C64. I struggled alone for a long time, reading everything I could get my hands on. Then, in November 1986, I found Q-Link.

First, I discovered all the nice people around the country I could talk to; then I discovered that many of these people were highly knowledgeable about computers. My whole life changed!

I no longer purchased software that was highly touted in magazines that turned out not to work ... I just talked to Q-Link friends first!

Whenever I had a problem with my computer or software, I just left a message on the proper message board. The SysOps are great! And so are the many friends I have made.

I have taken Basic Programming in the Learning Center, and intend to continue in the fall. I have more downloaded programs now than store-bought, and use them frequently. I learned how to use bulletin board services through Q-Link, too.

And most of all, when I had a family problem, I just went to my favorite room in People Connection: Over 50. The friends I have met there are really extra special.

When my husband and I retire to Florida next year, I hope to continue my friendships on Q, both on and offline.

Homework Help Online

Q-Link was a revolution for me. For only $9.95 a month, I receive all the news, sports, gossip, and information about my hobbies. The price for Plus hours is insignificant compared to the huge resource one has access to.

An excellent example is Grolier's Academic American Encyclopedia. Here is the situation: I was faced with a report on Bangladesh and Pakistan. I needed it all — facts, geographic location, culture, etc. I needed pages full of extensive basic facts.

Q-Link came to the rescue, with 12 pages of it! And with the help of the system, a (grade of) 95%!

Q-Link has brought much to me. It truly is a QuantumLink into the future. It provides people with a bias-free environment. This means that anyone can converse just with words, and need not worry about their looks, their shortcomings, or disabilities.

Research Aid, Computing Answers

Q-Link, in many ways, has changed my life. One example of this change is time — now, if I need help with research, my computer, or other ideas, Q-Link is there. No more calling all over the place to find out what's new. No more wasting time or money by buying software that is not worth it. I can just post a message to a fellow Q-Linker and ask them if it's good or not.

That brings me to the next area of my Q-Link summary — the people are friendly and understanding. I was having a problem with my C64 and I asked for help. They gave me a friendly answer, with some comments about what I should do.

The services are great, especially in the News and Information area. There are up-to-date movie reviews, for example, accurate I might add, and lots more.

I definitely like the Customer Service Center. It is loaded with information that helps everyone out, with news, what's coming, and special features. The price, which you can't beat, is perfect.

Friends in a Time of Need

Q-Link has been my lifeline since June 21, when I lost the love of my life. My husband died in his sleep on June 21.

He was a retired Army officer. Jerry in Stars and Stripes sent me a packet of information on how to start processing military insurance and other forms. I had no idea how to do any of this — I really had no dealings with military business.

My other friends in the Your Family Tree Club have also been my constant support. I received many OLMs (online messages) and E-Mails (which I saved on disk). Many members also got my address from my special friend BerthaE and sent me many lovely cards. It meant so much. It really helps, though it hurts to talk out my feelings.

I really want to thank all my QFriends for all their love and support — I don't want to leave out all my good friends in CitiLink in my list of supporters. Thanks again, Q-Link, for being there for the many nights when I couldn't sleep.

Link Up at QParties!

Are you and your friends planning a QParty in your hometown? Then post information about your bash on the Party message board in the P.C. Productions℠ area of P.C. Link, located in Just For Fun's QSociety.

Now there's more incentive than ever to post your plans on the Party board! Beginning October 1, Q-Link will select some gatherings announced on the board and honor them with an exclusive "Q-Link Party Pack."

Information about your QParty could be published here in the Q-Link Update!

The Specifics

To have your party considered for recognition by Q-Link, just post the details about your bash on the Party board and include the following:

- Where and when the get-together will take place.
- How many people are expected.
- Where the partygoers are from.
- Party theme, reason, or name.
- Name of QParty contact person(s).

From there, Q-Link will choose parties according to the following guidelines:

- There must be a commitment to attend the QParty from a minimum of 50 current Q-Link members, one week prior to the date of the event.
- The QParty must be open to any Q-Link member who wants to attend.
- Information about the QParty must be posted and regularly updated on the Party board.
- The event organizer(s) must designate one person who will serve as the primary liaison with Q-Link in the exchange of information.
- The liaison must provide Q-Link with the screen names of prospective attendees at least five days prior to the date of the QParty.
- The liaison must also provide Q-Link with the date, time, and location of the QParty at least five days prior to its occurrence.
- Within two weeks after the QParty, the liaison must return the following to Q-Link: signed party ballots, completed QParty notebook, and group photos of attendees (35mm).

If your gathering is selected for recognition by Q-Link, you'll receive E-Mail and further instructions.

Start posting your plans on the Party board now! And happy QPartying!

(Note: Recognition of QParties is discretionary and not guaranteed by Q-Link.)

Information about your QParty could be published here in the* Q-Link Update*!

Make Your Own Music With Help from the Music Room Support Group

Whether you're a professional musician or just like to listen to music, the staff and members of the Music Room Computing Support Group will take time to chat with you, give advice, and help you get the most from the enormous Music Room Software Libraries.

No wonder the Music Room is one of the most popular support groups — it's a fun and friendly place to talk music with resident experts like SysOp SIDS, Dr J5, Jabba Hutt, and Nick Z. The Music Room has something to offer you no matter what your level of expertise.

Something for Everyone

The Music Room support group offers a wide range of music support.

For the professional musician, the Music Room provides information and answers in a forum for communicating with others in the business.

Many professional musicians use MIDI, or Musical Instrument Digital Interface, to aid communication between synthesizers and computers. You can use the MIDI to convert your computer into a recorder and create your own home sound studio. Using the MIDI to engineer tracks of sound (files from Q-Link's MIDI libraries), you can record separate tracks over the same lines of music and have a full orchestra in your home!

MIDI members meet every night at 1 a.m. in the CIN Conference Center's Music Studio. MIDI files in the C128 and General Software Libraries provide public domain patch and sequence programs that add to your music-making capablilities.

For the hobbyist who enjoys using the computer to make music, the group provides support and utilities for nearly all of the music programs available for the Commodore, including the popular SID files described below. Download SID files to play or create your own SID programs, and upload them for others to enjoy.

The Music Room also sponsors projects and contests to encourage music makers to have some fun, win prizes, and share their compositions with fellow music enthusiasts.

For the novice, there are many public domain music player programs and thousands of music "albums" to play.

Get the Latest News, Solid Advice

The Music Room Support Group appeals to anyone who loves music. You can find out what's hot in the world of Commodore computer music by stopping first at the News and Events area in the Music Room Support Group. There you'll also find a list of the weekly conference topics.

The message boards and article areas are "the information heart of the group," according to Music Room SysOp Jon Rafalak (screen name: SysOp Jon). Post your musical problems and receive help from the group's many knowledgeable members. Share the latest rumors or announce your latest compositions here, and sift through the reviews to find out what new programs are popular.

Software Libraries

The Music Room Software Libraries boast the most extensive collection of Commodore music files available anywhere. In the General and C128 Libraries, you'll find the MIDI files and original format music files, most of which you can play without any extra equipment or hassle — just download your favorites, load, and play!

Selections include pop, ragtime, movie, and television themes. For more sophisticated tastes, try the classical, religious, or opera files.

You can also find holiday music, and original compositions available in a library all their own.

Make Music

The other software library area is devoted to SID (Sound Interface Device) music files. All Commodores are equipped with a SID chip, which is like a synthesizer that reproduces musical sound.

In order to play SID files you will need a SID player program. You can download a SID player from the SID Utilities area and use it to play high-quality music programs (for a review of the latest SID player, check out the Software Picks on page 46).

The SID music selections range from country to jazz, pop to classical, novelty, and original music, or stereo and picture SID files. The SID utilities area includes SID players, word files, and utilities to combine music, pictures and words. If you wish to create SID files, you'll have to buy the book about SID music that contains the copyrighted arranging disk. The book is called "Compute's Music System for the Commodore 128 and 64: Enhanced SID Player." It costs $24.95 and is available from Compute! Publications, P.O. Box 5058, Greensboro, NC 27403, or call 1-800-334-0868.

Debuting this Month — The Music Store!

The Music Store, Inc., debuting this month, is an online music shop that specializes in music software and hardware for the hobbyist and the professional. Choose the Music Store option from the Music Room's main menu to get the latest prices and information on music software, hardware, books, and more!

You'll also want to visit The Voting Booth, a special area online where group members post their votes for the best music files in the software libraries.

The Music Room Support Group meets formally once a week at 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays in Conference Room 2 of the CIN Conference Center. But to really get to know what's happening in the group, join the Music Room regulars when they gather informally every night at 10 p.m. in CIN's Music Studio, the group's social center.

The Studio's a great place to relax, get to know other members and get help and advice with your musical problems. At 1 a.m., the Music Room's MIDI group gets together to do the same for an hour.

Music Contests Galore!

Members of the Music Room love a good contest! Below are just three of the competitions taking place right now in the Music Room Support Group! For information on these and other competitions, go to the Contests and Uploaders' Spotlight area of the Music Room Support Group.

September Only:

Extended Words Contest — The music contest for everyone, even non-musicians! Download Mark Dickenson's Extended Words creator in the SID Utilities section of the SID Libraries and pick any existing SID music file. Extended Words allows you to create a five-line Commodore graphics "cell" so you can display animation or words while the music plays. Unleash your creativity and create an Extended Words display that will sweep the judges off their feet! Read prize information and details of the rules in the Music Room's Contest area.

Ongoing Competitions:

Music Trivia — Every Thursday night in the Music Studio at 10:30 p.m. Hosted by DCSTARnCPR. Plus hours awarded to each week's winner!

Name This Tune — In the Projects and Contests area. Download the file posted there each week. Be the first to identify and post the correct title of the song on the message board, and you'll win Plus hours!

Coming This Month — The SAMMYs!

The Music Room Support Group is proud to present for the first time anywhere the SID and MIDI Music Awards (SAMMYs)! This ceremony honors and recognizes some of the many wonderful contributors to the Q-Link Music Libraries. Join the fun on Friday, September 30 at 9:00 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium. Someone you know might be honored for their music!

To find out what else is happening in the Music Room, go to the News and Events area of the Music Room or check the Tonight option on CIN's main menu. You can find out more about the Music Room Support Group by choosing About This Group from the Music Room Support Group menu in CIN's Computing Support Groups area.

RUN™ Magazine Area Is Your Link to New Services, Software

RUN, the monthly magazine devoted to Commodore 64/128 computing, has joined CIN's News and Reference area to provide you with a variety of exclusive services to help you get the most from your Commodore.

RUN contributes a monthly computing feature written exclusively for Q-Link and offers a Letters to the Editor area, where you can post your questions about RUN computing articles and have them answered by RUN staffers.

If you need to search for specific computing information, download the table of contents from past issues of RUN and search for the topic you're interested in. Then request a back issue thorough the RUN back issue service.

RUN Software Available in Special Library

You can also get software in the RUN area that's not available anywhere else online. RUN contributes new programs to the special RUN Library every month, including public domain software and premium programs in a separate area.

Subscribe to RUN magazine online — and receive a discount off the regular price. Every month read about Commodore news and new products, telecomputing, GEOS, and other topics of interest to you.

At the monthly RUN Forum, you can ask questions of the RUN SysOp and other guest speakers connected with the magazine. This month's RUN Forum will be held at 10 p.m. on Monday, September 19 in the People Connection Auditorium. Don't miss your chance to question members of the RUN magazine staff.

C64 Hardware Support Group Contest!

The Commodore Information Network's C64 Hardware Support Group is sponsoring an article writing contest all this month! Q-Link members are encouraged to submit as many original articles as they wish and compete for Plus hour prizes.

Articles should be about C64 hardware, and might deal with such topics as construction set projects, hints and tips on the use of a particular piece of hardware, troubleshooting and preventive maintenance, or reviews of hardware items.

For detailed rules, submission procedures, and a list of prizes, see the special contest area in the C64 Hardware Support Group area. Don't miss the contest kick-off at the C64 Hardware conference at 10 p.m. on Tuesday, September 6 in the Conference Room in CIN's Conference Center.

Mark Dickenson's Stereoplayer is one of the most versatile players around for use with the SID music files from the Music Room Software Libraries in the Commodore Information Network. It will work on any Commodore and with any SID music file (ending in .mus), as well as dislplaying words (.wds) and picture (.pic) files.

In addition, if you have a stereo cartridge or have installed a second SID chip in your Commodore, the player will let you play stereo (.str) files along with the music files, giving you six-voice stereo sound.

Music Hardware

Q. What is MIDI?

A. MIDI is short for Musical Instrument Digital Interface. MIDI is a standard communications protocol established by the various synthesizer companies. Its original purpose was to allow an instrument of one brand and model to talk to any other MIDI equipment, no matter who the manufacturer was. This allows relationships between one instrument and another, so you can play one instrument but hear both.

With a MIDI and the proper software, a synthesizer can "load " a computer with such data as key note, modulation, velocity, and pressure. Thus, the computer can be made to act as a recorder and playback unit. Since there are 16 possible channels for MIDI information, you could record and control 16 different instrument sounds at one time. This type of control is also called sequencing.

Some instruments also allow the computer to control its patch information and parameters. In this way, MIDI is a two-way conversation route between the instrument and the controller. MIDI information sent to the computer can be edited and stored on disk for later callback and playback through the instrument.

To get started, you can get a MIDI synthesizer for under $395 and MIDI computer hardware and software for the C64 starting under $200. Of course, with MIDI you can continue to add on. If you wish more timbres and voices, just get another MIDI instrument — no need to dump one synthesizer just to get a bigger one! You can find more MIDI information in the Messages and Articles area of CIN's Music Room.

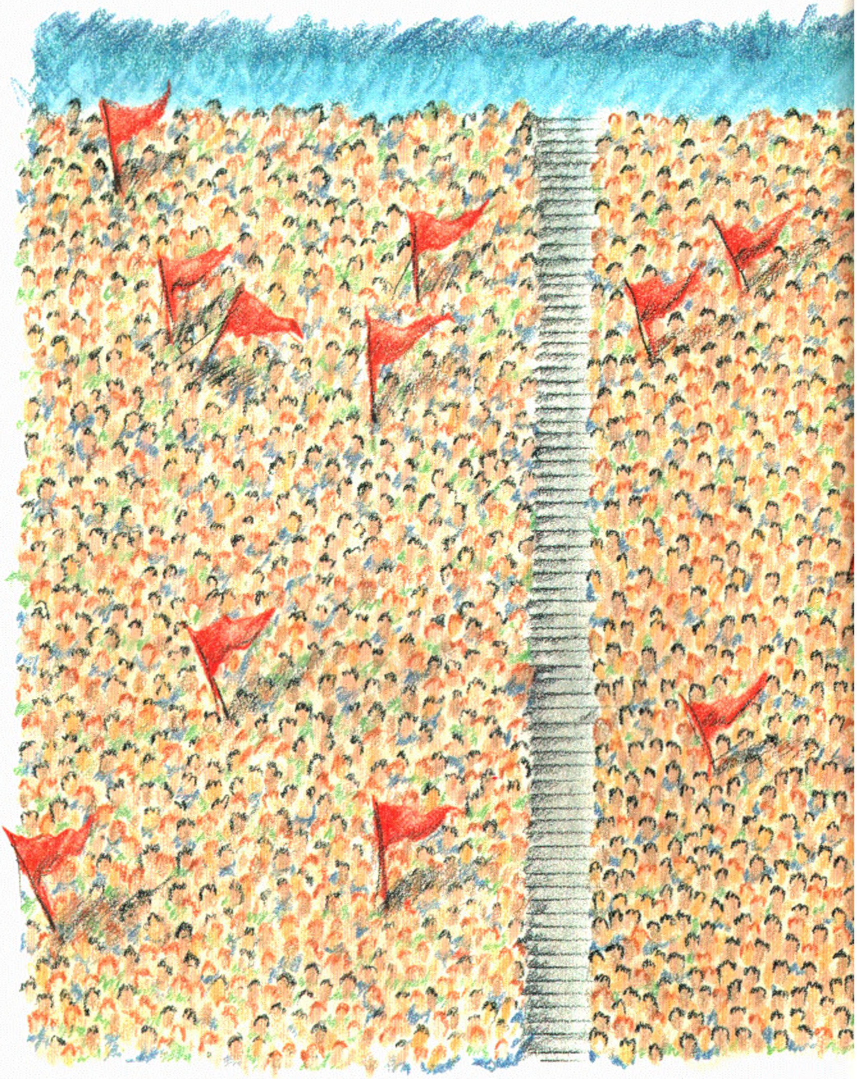
Preseason Reflections On the Grandstand Football League

by Ken Schoenberg
aka "The Ref"

Ken Schoenberg (The Ref) is host of The Grandstand. Every year, sports fans gather to draft their ideal football teams and play in the Grandstand Football League (GFL). Fantasy teams are made up of real NFL players, and scoring is based on the players' stats from the actual NFL games. Ken got an early start on his GFL team this year, as he describes.

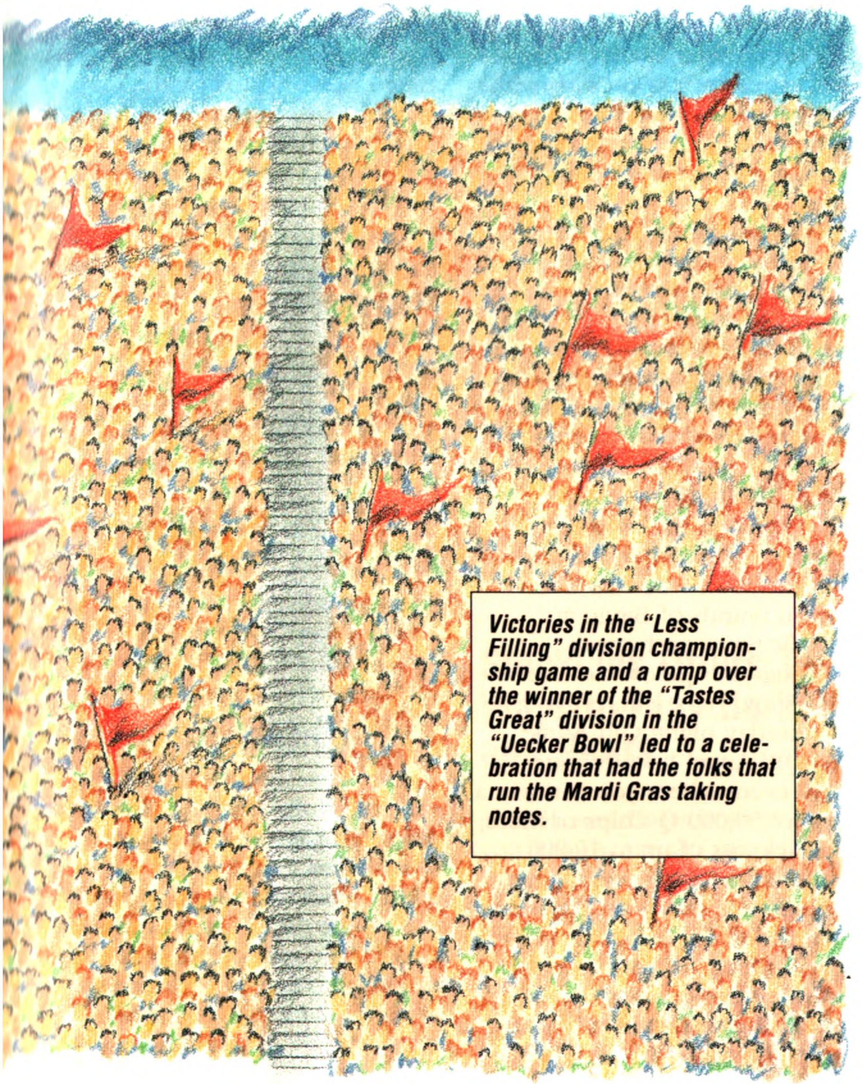


It's the end of summer. It's almost 100 degrees outside, the air conditioner is gasping for a breather and my cat, Rastafas, is reading travel brochures on places like Nova Scotia, Greenland, and Alaska.

On a day like this, the farthest thing from a sane man's mind should be football. At the risk of indicting myself as a lunatic, I purchased a preseason football magazine and began looking through it with the Grandstand Football League (GFL) Draft in mind.

The GFL has become an obsession to many of its team owners. My team, The Grandstanders (catchy name, eh?), romped through the league during its premier season two years ago. Clutch performances by players like Jerry "Uncle Ben's" Rice and my backfield of George "Big Hoss" Rogers and Curt "Li'l Hoss" Warner led the G-Standers to a 13-1 regular season record. Victories in the "Less Filling" division championship game and a romp over the winner of the "Tastes Great" division in the "Uecker Bowl" led to a celebration that had the folks that run the Mardi Gras taking notes.

Maybe I was a bit too ambitious going into last season. I guess I thought the G-Standers would be able to just waltz through the season en route to our second straight title. I came out of the draft in fine shape, or so I thought. Li'l Hoss was back, Mike Quick and Willie Gault gave me two great receivers and I had added Joe Montana and Eric Dickerson to my backfield. I couldn't see how the G-Standers could possibly lose a game.



Victories in the "Less Filling" division championship game and a romp over the winner of the "Tastes Great" division in the "Uecker Bowl" led to a celebration that had the folks that run the Mardi Gras taking notes.

Scoring in the GFL is pretty simple. When one of your players scores in his real National Football League game, your team gets those points. So if Dickerson scores a touchdown for the Rams (or later the Colts) the G-Standers would be credited with six points. Unfortunately, Dickerson didn't do much scoring those first four weeks.

In fact, my whole team seemed to be on vacation. When the NFL player's strike hit, the G-Standers were one and three and fast becoming the joke of the league. The fans were calling for a new coach, other teams wouldn't trade with me, even my cat, Rastafas had started bringing me the Help Wanted section from the daily paper.

Here we had the defending champions at the bottom of their division, staring at what seemed to be the insurmountable task of making the playoffs. But, with the conclusion of the player's strike came an end to the G-Standers' scoring woes. In fact, my guys had come back with a vengeance. We clinched a playoff spot with a week left in the season and Rastafas began clearing a spot on the mantle for another trophy.

If someone had told me that the G-Standers would score 44 points in the first round of the playoffs I would have been positive of a win. Sure, my opponents, the Florida Smugglers (another Fantasy League team), were a good team, but 44 points should beat anyone. Almost anyone...the Smugglers scored 48 that day, ending the G-Standers-season and leaving me with an empty spot above the fireplace.

Now, I'm sitting here with a pile of football statistics, magazines, and notes around me. I've been looking at the current group of rookies and wondering about the aging legs of some of my favorite veterans. Will the G-Standers win it all this year? They better, or Rastafas won't be renewing my contract!

If you'd like to become a GFL owner, go to The Grandstand, located in Just For Fun's Sports Center, and read the information and rules in the GFL area of Simulations and Fantasy Leagues.

RabbitJack's Casino ®

Bingo's the Name of the Game in RabbitJack's Casino

RabbitJack's staff has made Bingo in the Casino more exciting and rewarding than you've ever seen the game before.

Every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday in the Casino, a QRJ will host Bingo specials between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., and between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. EST.

In "Bonus Jackpot Bingo," you can win two jackpots! One starts at 2,000 Q-Chips and decreases 25 Q-Chips with every call after the fourth call of the game — the faster you call Bingo, the more Q-Chips you win! You win the second jackpot if you're the first player to win two games at the table. The jackpot starts at 1,000 Q-Chips and increases 500 Q-Chips with every game. Tension mounts during the game and throughout the night in "Bonus Jackpot Bingo".

In "Guts Bingo," the bonus jackpot starts at zero and increases by 200 Q-Chips with every call after the tenth call of the game; so if you do have Bingo, it's to your advantage to wait before you call it...unless someone else beats you to it!

Staff Specials

In addition to the exciting games mentioned above, some staff members run their own special brands of Bingo at specific times each week.

Bring your pillow to "Insomniac Bingo" at 1 a.m. every Wednesday night! QRJ Annie and QRJ Angel host this late night event where you can win a "jug" of 50,000 Q-Chips or more; win jackpots of up to 10,000 Q-Chips; be "King" or "Queen" for the night and win whenever your lucky number is called; or win Q-Chips just for being the game winner's neighbor!

On Wednesday and Saturday nights, QRJ Qwick and QRJ Joy draw the numbers for the weekly Casino "lotteries," where you can win up to 50,000 Q-Chips in a single drawing! Just send E-Mail to "RJsatLotto" or "RJwedLotto" with your five lucky numbers; if they match the first five numbers called in the Bingo game hosted by the QRJ at 11 p.m. on the appropriate night, you're a winner! You can even win Q-Chips for matching any of the numbers drawn!

Get Ready for Marathon Bingo!

And for those of you who just can't get enough bingo action, come to our 26-hour Bingo marathon during (and after) our September 3rd Casino Night. Bingo Bash will start at 10 p.m. on Saturday, September 3, and will run all day Sunday until midnight. Your favorite QRJs will keep the specials running continuously, so come on in anytime during the Bash, or stay for the whole 26 hours! There will be lots of fun and extra Q-Chips to be given away.

Our new schedule makes it easier for folks on both coasts to enjoy the games — check the calendar here in the Update for all the times. For bingo action and all the other Casino games, check the Casino Club, located in Just For Fun's Entertainment Center, for more details and locations.

Win Free Plus Hours By Picking the Pros

If you've got an eye for picking winners, you can win three free Plus hours by guessing the winning teams of this fall's professional football games in News and Information's Pro Picks contest!

The weekly contest works like this: sports fans go to the Pro Picks section in The Grandstand in News and Information's Sports Center. Pick the teams you think will win the weekend's football games. If you guess the most winners correctly, you'll pick up three free Plus hours for your winning predictions!

Get the Latest Sports News, Scores

While you're in the Sports Center, check out the top sports stories of the day in the USA Today Sports Update area. You'll also find NewsGrid sports news, with more stories, a calendar of that day's sporting events, and the latest sports team trades.

Browse through the many other features of The Grandstand itself. Look up information on the week's games on The Grandstand message boards before making your Pro Picks. Find out what's going on in The Grandstand in the Scorecard area, or read the latest news on sports books, movies, and software in the Sports Product Info Center.

Read the most recent edition of The Grandstand's monthly online sports magazine Sportsline, and even join one of the sports simulations and fantasy leagues to simulate your own online sports action. See Just For Fun and the Guest Column, pages 48 and 49, for more Fantasy League info!

The Sports Center can also be entered by choosing it from the main menu of Just For Fun.

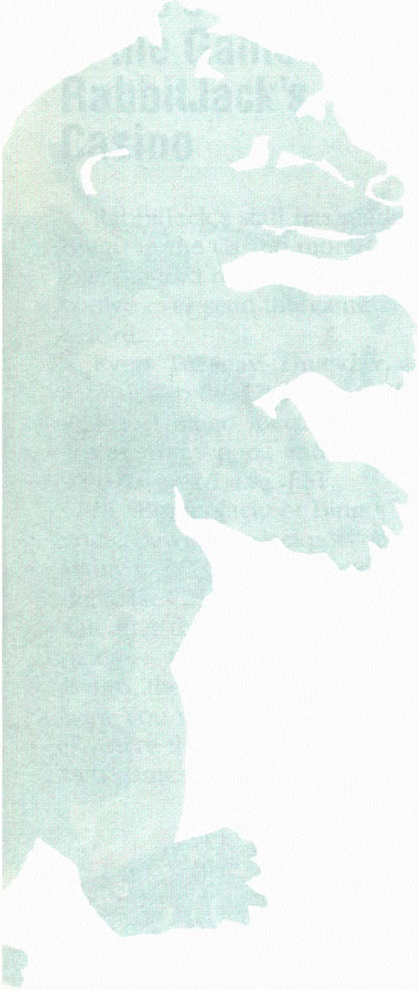
StockLink Offers Two Ways to Play Bulls and Bears

Bulls and Bears now gives you two chances to win prizes by playing the stock market!

We'll continue to offer the monthly Bulls and Bears game where you can play the market the same way you wheel and deal on Wall Street in real life!

The object of the game is to make the greatest profit from your "investments." Each player starts off with an allotment of "funny money" to set up a stock portfolio. You "buy" the stocks and track them to see how market fluctuations affect the value of your portfolio! Check your ranking against other players in the Bulls and Bears area of StockLink^{SM}.

Thursday nights at 10 p.m., come to the Bulls and Bears room in People Connection, where investors and investment gamers gather to answer questions, talk about the week's market action, exchange tips, and look at trends.



At the end of the month, the five players whose profits are the highest win Plus hour awards of one to five hours!

New Version for Beginners

For those of you less familiar with options and other, more volatile areas of the market, we're introducing "Bulls, Bears, and Stocks." In BB&S, players make the most out of their $100,000 in "funny money" by buying and selling only stocks — no other purchases are allowed.

You'll be asked at all the key points in the game whether your stock transactions are for your regular game portfolio or for your "stocks only" portfolio. Any other game transactions will automatically be assigned to your regular game portfolio.

So now you've got two opportunities to win at Bulls and Bears! If you haven't played Bulls and Bears yet, come join the game — it's easy to learn and fun to play. You'll find Bulls and Bears in StockLink under News and Information. Be sure to read the directions in the How to Play Bulls & Bears area before you begin.

If you're looking for help playing Bulls and Bears, or want information on the real market, post a note on the Investors Debate Board, also located in StockLink. Exchange tips, questions, and ideas with other investors. And on Thursday nights at 10 p.m., come to the Bulls and Bears room in People Connection, where investors and investment gamers gather to answer questions, talk about the week's market action, exchange tips, and look at trends.

If you don't play the market, Bulls and Bears gives you the chance to learn how it works. If you do play the market, you can set up several mock portfolios and see how well your actual purchases do against other securities you might have purchased. Whatever kind of player you are, Bulls and Bears gives you a chance to win Plus hours while having fun!
